

Consultation Services: User Led Monitors

We employ 7 people with learning disabilities to work as User-Led Monitors in partnership with Islington Council. They are experts by experience

Their job is to visit every day service and residential home in Islington and find out what the people there think about the support they get from them.

The monitors then report back to Islington Council to help make improvements to people's lives and the support they receive.

Our monitors play a very important role and we are really proud to be able to work with other professionals to make sure everyone's voice is heard.
